

Pulpit Notes:

The Progress has been a Catholic newspaper in the Northwest since 1899

It is the official paper of the Archdiocese of Seattle, but more importantly it is a source of information, education and inspiration for Catholics who want to live their faith more fully.

It is the best way to stay informed about local, national and international Catholic news.

It is a reliable source for adults and parents who want to understand their faith better and share it with their children.

And it contains good news about the ministries and ministers who are living their faith in our local church.

When events and breaking news about the Catholic Church happen, The Progress provides accurate reporting and insightful commentary.

Columns and articles help each of us live our faith in the everyday world of work, school and family.

And columns like those by Father Ron Rolheiser deepen our conversion and strengthen us for the journey of faith.

The Progress contains announcements of upcoming speakers, retreats and workshops. And it has a calendar of events and movie reviews with helpful ratings for parents.

The Progress has been helping inform, educate and inspire Catholics in Western Washington for more than 100 years.
