My dear friends in Christ,

“For I know well the plans I have in mind for you, says the LORD, plans for your welfare, not for woe! Plans to give you a future full of hope. When you call me, when you go to pray to me, I will listen to you.” (Jer 29:11, 12)

I drew the title for my archdiocesan vision statement, A Future Full of Hope, from this Scripture passage because it speaks of God’s abiding presence with us through good times and bad. This outlook of joyful hope is being challenged by current economic conditions, and we can clearly see that many in our culture have become discouraged and down-hearted.

As I present the 2007-2008 Annual Financial Report, our local church can look to the future with hope because God, who has called us to life through baptism, hears our prayers and is present with us in every challenge and difficulty. The tangible signs of that hope are all around us.

In June, I will have the great honor of ordaining six new priests for the Archdiocese of Seattle. This is a direct result of your generosity and our successful efforts to promote vocations. We currently have more than 30 men studying for priesthood, and we continue to experience strong interest by individuals interested in serving the church as clergy, religious and lay ecclesial ministers.

Catholic schools are another sign of hope and vitality. Responding to the needs of a growing number of families choosing Catholic education for their children in southwest Washington and the Olympia area, two new high schools will be opening their doors within the next two years. One of our schools, Eastside Catholic, recently moved to its own campus after more than 25 years of academic excellence and community service.

We also have responded to the challenge of keeping Catholic elementary schools open and accessible to all who want a Catholic education. I am happy to report that the Fulcrum Foundation has achieved and exceeded its goal to raise $40 million to assist students and schools in need. In these difficult economic times, this endowment is more important than ever and I want to thank again all those who have supported this effort.

The generosity of our people also continues to bless those of whom our Lord speaks in Matthew’s Gospel: the hungry, thirsty, those who are ill and in prison. Because our Annual Catholic Appeal ranks among the top campaigns in the nation each year, we are able to reach out to all who turn to the church for pastoral care. This stewardship of treasure also is reflected in the compassionate support for Catholic Community Services and the Archdiocesan Housing Authority. These organizations continue to give help and hope to families at risk, the homeless, the elderly and vulnerable. Along with many other organizations within the church too numerous to name, they are Christ’s hands reaching out to serve others through the generosity of our people.

As you read this report, you will see that we have good reason for our hope. In good times and bad, we are a community of faith living in solidarity as one family united in Jesus Christ and the love of God who is always with us and hears our prayers. May the ever-present God of love continue to guide us and keep us as we make our pilgrim journey as one, holy, catholic and apostolic church.

With warmest wishes and regards, I remain
Your servant in Christ,

Most Rev. Alex J. Brunett

Catholics throughout Western Washington continued to give generously in support of their parishes and missions during 2007/2008. Through this generosity, Parish Ordinary Income (Sunday and Holy Day Collections) increased 3.4% in the year ending June 30, 2008 to $85.8 million. Total parish revenue from all sources, including parish schools, was in excess of $225.3 million. Over 73% of our parishes and missions ended the year with an operating surplus. The economic diversity and variations in community size continue to be reflected in parish collections. In 2007/2008, 19 parishes recorded over $1 million in collections with two over $2 million. At the same time, Ordinary Income in 13 parishes, primarily in rural areas was under $100,000.
The plan for the Fulcrum Foundation and Fulcrum’s family of supporters is coming “together toward the goal.” Six years after its founding in March 2002, Fulcrum has been blessed with a successful capital campaign, a million dollar annual event — the “Celebration of Light” — to support our Catholic schools, over 5,000 identified donors, and a robust annual report. Fulcrum’s success has meant a sounder financial footing for schools across western Washington. Making a difference in the lives of people, schools, and communities is the mission of the Fulcrum Foundation and its donors.

EMBRACING OUR LEGACY — ENDOWING THE FUTURE OF CATHOLIC SCHOOLS CAPITAL CAMPAIGN

To keep schools open and affordable, Fulcrum’s capital campaign raised cash and built endowments to support the operating budgets of schools in economically challenged communities. The campaign to endow the future of Catholic schools successfully concluded in December 2008, surpassing the $40 million goal. Over 2,700 donors throughout western Washington have come together to make this campaign a success, and we are grateful for their generous support. Special thanks are due to our campaign co-chairs, Mike and Mary Lee, who led the campaign to its successful conclusion, and to our campaign committee and countless volunteers in parishes and schools who helped us exceed our goal.

TUITION ASSISTANCE

In fiscal year 2008, the Fulcrum Foundation distributed $899,840 in tuition assistance. Individual grants were increased to $750 in keeping with the Board of Trustees’ plan to increase the amount of tuition assistance and the number of recipients. Targeted tuition assistance was also awarded to raise enrollment at select schools. The chart on this page shows the dramatic progress that is being made according to plan.

ASSISTANCE TO SCHOOLS IN NEED

In fiscal year 08 the Fulcrum Foundation provided $681,105 in special assistance to 22 schools (listed below) to meet their operating or extraordinary expenses.

EXCELLENCE GRANTS

During fiscal year 08, the Fulcrum Foundation awarded “Excellence Grants” of up to $1,500 to 17 Catholic elementary and high school teachers throughout western Washington. These grants encourage teachers to improve their course design and lesson plans, through creative thinking, proposals for long-term changes to the curriculum, and projects that can be replicated by other teachers. This year, the Fulcrum Foundation distributed $27,410 in “Excellence Grants,” Fulcrum-PACE teacher enrichment grants, and Notre Dame Continuing Education grants.

Many exciting applications were received this year, including proposals to expand Our Lady of the Lake School’s program for special needs students, develop an inter-generational art program for kindergarteners and seniors at St. Mary Magdalen School, and engage K-8 students in geography, history, civics and even economics by creating a “Celebrate Canada Day” at St. Philomena School.

Fulcrum’s success has meant a sounder financial footing for our Catholic schools, which continues to make excellent academic, religious, and co-curricular programs accessible to all students. This report highlights the distributions of tuition assistance, assistance to schools in need, and teacher excellence grants for fiscal year 2008 that are making a difference in the lives of people, schools, and communities across western Washington.
Catholic Youth Organization

Over 10,000 individual youth participated in CYO programs in Athletics, Outdoor Ministries and Retreat Ministry in 2007-2008. Participants ranged in age between six and eighteen.

ATHLETICS

School year 2007-2008: CYO Athletics coordinated league competition for 40 Catholic parishes with schools and several other private elementary schools within King, Pierce and Snohomish counties. The purpose of these programs was to develop attitudes of fair play, teamwork, self-discipline and physical fitness based upon Catholic Christian principles.

Sports included soccer, cross country, basketball, volleyball, baseball and track and field. The majority of participants were in grades 4 through 8. There were approximately 15,000 youth athletes involved and an estimated 3,000 adult volunteer coaches, coordinators and commissioners.

OUTDOOR MINISTRIES

Summer 2007: CYO Outdoor Ministries operated three resident camps, Don Bosco, Hamilton and Gallagher in addition to the Nanamakee wilderness expedition program that served just under 1700 youth summer campers in a wide variety of programs fostering personal, social and spiritual development.

Campers came from all over Western Washington. CYO's campership programs and discounts provided over $77 thousand in financial aid to participants.

Spring 2008: CYO Outdoor Ministries offered an environmental education program at Camp Hamilton emphasizing Christian stewardship of the earth. This program served 891 fifth and sixth graders from 27 area Catholic schools as well as 270 students from 2 public schools.

RETREAT MINISTRY

This program hosted fall, winter and spring group retreats and conferences for youth and adults at Camps Don Bosco, Hamilton and Gallagher. There were over 2000 Catholics who attended these retreats that utilized CYO camp facilities in 2007-08. Catholic parish and school groups accounted for almost 75% of the groups. In addition, the Office for Youth and Young Adult Ministry facilitated numerous retreats at these facilities including five confirmation retreats for over 400 youth participants from 19 parishes and two marriage prep retreats for over 60 participants.

Good News from the Missions Office

The Missions Office has as its focus the social mission of the Church, providing educational and funding support for local and international evangelization, relief and development work. The office represents the Pontifical Missions Societies, Catholic Relief Services and the Catholic Campaign for Human Development, integrating their educational and fundraising components. Included in programs are year-around Catholic social teaching resources for parishes and schools, and grants for charity and justice projects. Information on all of the above can be found at www.seattlearch.org/missions.

Catholic Relief Services (CRS) is our U.S. Catholic community's international relief and development agency, working in 100 countries solely on the basis of need, not creed, race or nationality. The fundamental motivating force of CRS is the Gospel of Jesus Christ as it pertains to the development of people, alleviating human suffering and fostering charity and justice worldwide. CRS provides direct aid to the poor and involves people in their own development, helping them to realize their potential. And CRS educates the people of the U.S. to fulfill their moral responsibilities toward our brothers and sisters around the world by helping the poor, working to remove the causes of poverty, and promoting social justice.

Propagation of the Faith, one of the four Pontifical Mission Societies, seeks to foster an even-deeper spirit of universal mission, to inform Catholics of the life and the needs of the Catholic Church in the missions, and to encourage prayer and financial help for those mission churches. Through the offerings of Catholics worldwide, the Propagation of the Faith provides ongoing support for the local and evangelizing programs in Africa, Asia, the islands of the Pacific and in remote regions of Latin America. This includes aid through Society of St. Peter the Apostle for the education and support of seminarians, religious novices and lay catechists; for the work of religious communities in education, health care and social services; and for communication and transportation needs. The Holy Childhood Association, another Pontifical Mission Society, is dedicated to mission awareness among elementary school-age children — children serving children in need.

The Catholic Campaign for Human Development is the domestic anti-poverty, social justice program of the U.S. Catholic community. Its mission is to address the root causes of poverty in the United States through promotion and support of community-controlled, self-help organizations and through transformative education in parishes, schools and faith communities.

In fiscal year 2007/2008, the Missions Office received $2,311,700 for mission, relief and development work of the Church (primarily through the Catholic Relief Services Collection, CRS Operation Rice Bowl, the World Mission Sunday collection, the Build Hope collection, and bequests). This amount does not include donations made directly to the national offices of the organizations listed above.

Associated Catholic Cemeteries

Associated Catholic Cemeteries is comprised of four cemeteries and has buried approximately 77,000 people in nearly 120 years. Calvary, located near the University of Washington in Seattle, was dedicated in 1889. Holyrood, serving North Seattle, King, and Snohomish Counties, was blessed in 1953. Gethsemane, dedicated in 1975, serves South Seattle, King and Pierce Counties. St. Patrick, begun in 1890 as the parish cemetery for St. Anthony (now Holy Spirit) Parish in Kent, was transferred to ACC in 1989. These four cemeteries provided 914 burial services during 2007/08. In keeping with the Church's teaching of a preferential option for the poor, Associated Catholic Cemeteries continues to provide burial services at no charge or at a reduced cost to those in need. This is made possible due to the support of other families who choose their Catholic cemetery for their burial needs.

Associated Catholic Cemeteries continues its long-standing practice of operating without financial subsidy from the Archdiocese. Financial results for the year ending June 30, 2008 show a positive Net Income from Operations which is used for development and equipment replacement. The cemeteries also have a Care Fund to ensure long-term care and maintenance. Despite regular contributions to the Care Fund, the slowing economy and the market effects on the Fund's investment portfolio resulted in a net loss of approximately -5.9% in the Fund's investment portfolio.

In addition to the four Archdiocesan Cemeteries, there are 20 active parish cemeteries throughout the Archdiocese. The financial results of these cemeteries are included in parish operations.

A Pre-Need Planning Guide as well as A Guide for Making Good Decisions for the End of Life are both available at no charge by calling 1-888-784-8683.

To learn more about the Catholic Cemeteries of the Archdiocese visit them on the internet at www.acc-seattle.org.
March 19, 2009

As a faith-based and values-driven outreach of the Catholic Church in Western Washington, Catholic Community Services has provided safety, stability and supportive connections in the lives of men, women and children in need for over 90 years. It is the largest local private provider of assistance to poor and vulnerable people in the State of Washington. Under the leadership of Archbishop Alex J. Brunett, the direction of Father Kenneth Haydock and the Boards of Trustees, and Michael L. Reichert, President, the people of Catholic Community Services (CCS) and the Archdiocesan Housing Authority (AHA) provide loving and compassionate service to persons in need throughout Western Washington. CCS and AHA together have more than 80 programs.

The 12 CCS family centers provide an array of services. Long Term Care services are provided in the homes of seniors and people with disabilities of all economic backgrounds. Chemical Dependency System Northwest provides a full continuum of outpatient chemical dependency treatment services for youth, adults and their families. The Family Preservation System assists children/youth and families with multiple and complex needs. AHA and its Special Ministries programs provide affordable housing, transitional housing, emergency shelters, and other services.

In each area of the Archdiocese, services are based on local needs and funding. They are provided through a variety of sources, including contracts with cities and counties; the state and federal governments; fees for services; private donations and foundations; and through United Way. Archdiocesan funding is provided through the Annual Catholic Appeal, CCS Week, and a variety of specific family center and program appeals during the year. The Catholic Charities Foundation also provides funding.

Catholic Community Services’ Long Term Care System provides a full continuum of outpatient chemical dependency treatment services to youth, adults, and their families. The CCS Recovery Centers are a safe, nurturing, and enriching environment where all are treated with dignity and respect, and where clients and their families become empowered to make healthy changes to stop the destruction of alcoholism and other drug dependencies. CCS also emphasizes a broad range of approaches to the treatment of alcoholism and other drug dependencies, striving to serve those most in need.

CD System Northwest Locations: Whatcom County and Snohomish County.

THE FAMILY PRESERVATION SYSTEM

The Family Preservation System provides an array of mental health services and social supports to children/youth and families with multiple and complex needs, serious family conflict, risk of or history of separation from the family, as well as difficulties in other areas of life.

THE ARCHDIOCESAN HOUSING AUTHORITY

AHA provides a continuum of care for homeless and low-income persons throughout Western Washington. Twenty-five day centers, emergency shelters and transitional housing programs offer a warm, safe refuge from the streets. AHA provides homeless men, women and children with a safe place to sleep, bathe, launder clothes, receive medical attention and alcohol and drug treatment. AHA also provides case management and referrals to community-based support services. FROM THE FINANCE COUNCIL

Dear Members of the Church in Western Washington:

As members of the Archdiocesan Finance Council, we assist Archbishop Brunett and his staff in the oversight of financial matters of the Archdiocese of Seattle. It is through your generosity as parishioners and members of the Archdiocese of Seattle that the Church in Western Washington is able to carry out the mission entrusted to it by Jesus Christ. Because of your faith and trust in the Church and its leadership, we feel it is important to provide you this annual report to keep you apprised of the financial condition of our Church and informed about the issues we are addressing.

This past year people in the Archdiocese continued to be generous. Donations to the Annual Catholic Appeal hit a record high of $12.5 million with parishes receiving rebates of over $2.2 million. A number of parishes completed capital campaigns for building and renovation projects. The Fulcrum Foundation successfully completed its $40 million campaign which will provide tuition assistance grants to low-income families and grants to needy schools. However, the economic downturn has also affected our Church. Some of our parishes have recently experienced declines in their ordinary income. Many of our Catholic schools have endowment funds and the stock market has negatively impacted these funds. Thus, they are not able to provide the support to local elementary and high schools as they have in the past.

The losses in the stock market have dramatically impacted the investment returns from the Archdiocese’s General Reserve and the Priest Pension Fund. As a result, the budget forecast prepared by the Finance Council is projecting a significant decrease in funds available for the operating budget of the Archdiocese. Therefore, Archbishop Brunett has initiated a process of cutting $1.9 million from the budget which represents a 12% reduction in projected expenditures. He has directed that these cuts be made in a way that the essential ministries and services provided by the Church will continue. Based on recommendations from the Finance Council and the Presbyteral Council, an additional $500,000 will be added to the Annual Appeal goals to restore the viability of our Priest Pension Plan.

Our Catholic Community Services (CCS) and Archdiocesan Housing Authority (AHA) continue to provide services to needy families and individuals in our community. It is expected that the needs will increase in the coming year because of the downturn in the economy. The State of Washington will be cutting back on the funding of many services to the needy. This means that the Church’s charitable organizations will need to fill the gap and we as Catholics will be their support to ensure that CCS and AHA can meet this challenge.

One of the priorities of the Finance Council is to ensure that our Church, both at the Archdiocesan level and parish level, holds itself to the highest standards of accountability for contributions received. The Finance Council has reviewed the current financial policies and practices and has made a number of recommendations to strengthen the financial controls and to ensure that all funds are properly accounted for and that the appropriate checks and balances are in place.

The Archdiocese continues to face financial challenges as we respond to the victims of child sexual abuse. Over the past twenty years, the Archdiocese has provided pastoral care and settlements to approximately 280 victims. The costs of the settlements, counseling, and attorneys fees have totaled approximately $39 million. These costs were primarily paid by the insurance companies that were providing coverage at the time of the abuse. Over 90% of all our current cases are post-1980 and all are prior to 1984. Some cases go back as far as 1950. During those years, the Archdiocese had more than ten different insurance companies. Prior to 1973, our insurance coverage was not centralized and each parish carried its own insurance. Fortunately, we have been able to find the majority of these insurance policies but there are also gaps in coverage due to missing policies and policies with very low limits of liability.

In cases where there are gaps or low limits, we funded the settlements through our Archdiocesan Self-Insurance Reserve. This fund was depleted two years ago. Now, when there is a lack of insurance coverage, we are funding the settlements from the Archdiocesan General Reserve. The General Reserve was funded in the late 70's and mid-80's from the sale of properties that were not being used by the Archdiocese.

This means that no funds donated to the Annual Catholic Appeal or any funds from parish assessments have been used to fund the sexual abuse settlement cases. If the Archdiocese continues to settle cases for fair and reasonable amounts, as it has for the last twenty years, and if our insurance carriers remain cooperative, the Archdiocese will not be forced to seek relief from bankruptcy as some of our neighboring dioceses have done.

We continue to reach out to victims and to provide pastoral care and assistance toward their healing. Currently, the Archdiocese has 26 cases that have not yet been settled. It is our hope that these cases will be settled in the next 18 months. In addition, the Archdiocese continues to expand its efforts to address the tragedy of child sexual abuse. There is required screening for all those in our Church who work with children. There is also required training for all parish staff and applicable volunteers to ensure that our parishes and schools provide a safe environment for our children.

We hope this report provides insights into the financial affairs of the Archdiocese. As we move into the future, the Archdiocesan Finance Council is committed to providing good stewardship and assistance to Archbishop Brunett and his staff in the financial management of the Church of Western Washington.

In closing, I would like to take this opportunity to thank Tom Hoover for his ten years of service on the Archdiocesan Finance Council and, in particular, for his six years as Chair of the Council. He has provided strong and steady leadership. He has a true sense of stewardship in giving his time and talent to our Church.

Sincerely,

Lou Dell'Ossio, Jr.
