My dear friends in Christ,

“And some seed fell on rich soil and produced fruit. It came up and grew and yielded thirty, sixty, and a hundredfold.” (Mk 4:8)

It has been my privilege to serve as Archbishop of Seattle over the past 12 years. During that time I have been humbled by the spirit of giving so emblematic of our clergy, religious and lay people. This spirit of giving has never been more evident than during the past fiscal year as our state and nation have experienced the effects of the economic recession.

As I present the 2008-2009 Annual Report, I acknowledge with gratitude the stewardship of our people and parishes in the most trying economic period since the Great Depression. Not only have Catholics in the Archdiocese of Seattle continued their generous support for the many ministries sustained by the Annual Catholic Appeal, but they have set a record for financial giving. Contributions to the Appeal increased for the seventh straight time in the last fiscal year, and the number of donors also increased as, for the first time in our history, donations exceeded $13 million.

This is a sign that the word of God has found fertile soil in the hearts of our people, and the seed God has sown in the Archdiocese of Seattle is yielding its increase.

In 2009, the people and parishes of our archdiocese also demonstrated their pride and zeal for the faith by supporting the Catholics Come Home television advertising campaign. In addition to supporting the ongoing mission of the Church, literally thousands of donations small and large poured in to support this effort to welcome inactive Catholics home. People from virtually every parish in the Archdiocese of Seattle donated more than $500,000 to this campaign which is just the start of a long-term effort to restore a sense of Catholic identity among our people and to share the good news of Jesus Christ with others.

As I prepared this report for publication each of the past 12 years, I have attempted to express my sincere gratitude to all who contribute to the life of the local Church. I am especially mindful this year that my ministry would be impossible without the commitment and generosity of the thousands of faithful clergy, religious and lay people who demonstrate their faith, hope and love through the sharing of their many gifts.

With the submission of my resignation to Pope Benedict XVI in accord with canon law more than a year ago, the Archdiocese now anticipates a transition as we prepare to welcome a new shepherd. I am happy to report that the new Archbishop will find our Catholic people deeply committed to the Gospel and the current financial status of the local Church sound. As in the past, we continue to address the needs of victims of clergy sexual abuse without using funds donated to our parishes or to the Annual Catholic Appeal.

This annual report is more than a compilation of financial statistics. It is a reflection of the rich soil that exists in the hearts of Catholics living in the Archdiocese of Seattle. The community of Catholic believers here continues to reach out in solidarity to those who hunger and thirst physically and spiritually. I ask that all pray for the continued vibrancy of our mission and that our people will extend to my successor the same generous support that I have been blessed to receive during my years as Archbishop of Seattle.

With sincerest gratitude and warmest wishes, I remain

Your servant in Christ,

Most Rev. Alex J. Brunett

The Parishes Revolving Fund (PRF) and Archdiocesan Revolving Fund (ARF) are separately maintained savings and loan organizations within the Archdiocese. Parishes and other institutions deposit surplus funds in the appropriate fund. These funds are then available as loans to grow the Church throughout the Archdiocese. The PRF serves parishes while the ARF provides the same service for other institutions.

A seven member Commission oversees PRF operations; Commission members are listed on page 8. PRF savings at 6/30/09 totaled $89.8 million in 654 accounts up from last year’s $87.0 million in 626 accounts. Loans increased sharply to $57.1 million from last year’s $44.6 million with the number of loans jumping from 117 to 133.

ARF savings also increased slightly from $12.6 million with loans increasing from $6.6 million to $7.7 million.

Despite the serious economic downturn, Catholics throughout Western Washington continued to support their parishes. The 1.4% decline in Parish Ordinary Income (Sunday and Holy Day Collections) was much smaller than could be anticipated given the economy. Total Ordinary Income in 08/09 was $84.5 million. Total parish revenue from all sources, including parish schools, was in excess of $235.7 million. Over 66% of our parishes and missions ended the year with an operating surplus despite the decline in Ordinary Income. The economic diversity and variations in community size continue to be reflected in parish collections. In 2008/2009, 19 parishes recorded over $2 million. At the same time, Ordinary Income in 14 parishes, primarily in rural areas, was under $100,000.

The Missions Office has as its focus the social mission of the Church, providing educational and funding support for local and international evangelization, relief and development work. The office represents the Pontifical Missions Societies, Catholic Relief Services and the Catholic Campaign for Human Development, integrating their educational and fundraising components. Included in programs are year-around Catholic social teaching resources for parishes and schools, and grants for charity and justice projects. Information on all of the above can be found at www.seattlearch.org/missions.

Catholic Relief Services (CRS) is our U.S. Catholic community’s international relief and development agency, working in 100 countries. The fundamental motivating force of CRS is the Gospel of Jesus Christ as it pertains to the development of people, alleviating human suffering and fostering charity and justice world-wide. CRS provides direct aid to the poor and involves people in their own development. And CRS educates the people of the U.S. to fulfill their moral responsibilities toward our brothers and sisters around the world by helping the poor, working to remove the causes of poverty, and promoting social justice.

Propagation of the Faith, one of the four Pontifical Mission Societies, seeks to foster an ever-deeper spirit of universal mission, to inform Catholics of the life and the needs of the Church in the missions, and to encourage prayer and financial help for the mission churches. The Society provides ongoing support for the pastoral and evangelizing programs in Africa, Asia, the islands of the Pacific and in remote regions of Latin America. This includes aid through Society of St. Peter the Apostle for the education and support of seminarians, Religious novice and lay catechists; for the work of Religious Communities in education, health care and social services; and for communication and transportation needs. The Holy Childhood Association, another Pontifical Mission Society, is dedicated to mission awareness among elementary school-age children — children serving children in need.

The Catholic Campaign for Human Development is the domestic anti-poverty, social justice program of the U.S. Catholic community. Its mission is to address the root causes of poverty in the United States through promotion and support of community-controlled, self-help organizations and through transformative education in parishes, schools and faith communities.

In fiscal year 2008/2009, the Missions Office received $1,811,600 for mission, relief and development work of the Church (primarily through the Catholic Relief Services Collection, Operation Rice Bowl, the World Mission Sunday Collection, the Build Hope Collection, and bequests).
During 2008-2009, the 57 diocesan elementary schools, four additional Catholic elementary schools and Eastside Catholic Middle School provided the highest quality education emphasizing Catholic values to 17,118 students. Of these, 79% were registered as Catholics. Ethnic minority students comprised 29% of the total elementary population. The four schools – including Forest Ridge, Villa Academy, Holy Family (Lacey) and Pacific Crest Academy – and Eastside Catholic Middle School served 1074 students of that total.

Parish school operating revenues for 2008/2009 totaled $101.2 million. Tuition and Fees accounted for 66% (up from 64% in 07/08) of the total with the balance made up of a combination of parish grants, neighboring parish grants, Archdiocesan grants through the Fulcrum Foundation, and local fund raising and development efforts. The parish grant amounted to 22% of the school parishes’ collection income up from 20% in 07/08.

In addition to the parish elementary schools, nine outstanding Catholic high schools served an additional 6,206 students. Of these nine schools, the Archdiocese operates three in the greater Seattle area – Bishop Blanchet High School, J.F. Kennedy Catholic High School, and O’Dea High School, under the direction of the Christian Brothers. Together, these three secondary schools enrolled 2,474 students within the total. Budgets for these three schools totaled $24,496,083.

The other six secondary schools offered high school programs of study in the Seattle, Tacoma, Everett and Bellevue areas of our state. These include Holy Names Academy, Seattle Preparatory School, Bellarmine Preparatory School, Archbishop Thomas J. Murphy High School, Forest Ridge School of the Sacred Heart and Eastside Catholic High School. Together, these schools enrolled 3,732 students. Their combined budgets totaled $52,916,714.

A total of 1,295 teachers delivered an educational program to the elementary children. A total of 523 full- and part-time secondary teachers instructed the high school students.

In Fall 2009, St. Elizabeth Ann Seton Catholic College Preparatory High School opened its doors. Located in Vancouver, WA, Seton High serves families in southern Washington State. We are also anticipating the opening of a Pope John Paul II High School in Fall 2010, which will be located on a new campus serving the Lacey/Olympia area.

Although the past year brought many challenges to the schools and families Fulcrum serves, the Fulcrum Foundation was proud to help a record number of students attend Catholic school. Eight years after its founding, Fulcrum is blessed with an annual event that is listed in the “Top 25 Benefit Events” in the region, and giving programs and activities for major donors, young professionals, and the business community. The Fulcrum Foundation Legacy Society includes more than 30 benefactors who will leave a legacy gift for Catholic students and schools.

An outstanding and involved Board of Trustees has overseen the development of the plan. The Foundation is grateful to the Board and its committees for their diligent oversight. The imagination and hard work of the Development, Finance, and Distribution committees are evident in this annual report.

TUITION ASSISTANCE
In fiscal year 2009, the Fulcrum Foundation provided $1,196,482 in targeted programs and special assistance to schools (listed below) to meet their operating or extraordinary expenses.

ASSISTANCE TO SCHOOLS IN NEED
In fiscal year 2009, the Fulcrum Foundation distributed $31,196,482 in targeted programs and special assistance to schools (listed below) to meet their operating or extraordinary expenses.

STAR GRANTS FOR TEACHER AND STAFF INITIATIVES
During fiscal year 2009, the Fulcrum Foundation awarded Star Grants of up to $1,500 to 18 Catholic elementary and high school teachers throughout Western Washington. These grants encourage teachers and staff to improve their course design and lesson plans, through creative thinking, proposals for long-term changes to the curriculum, and projects that can be replicated by others.

This year, the Fulcrum Foundation distributed $30,380 in Star Grants, Fulcrum Pierce County teacher enrichment grants, and Notre Dame continuing-education grants. Many exciting applications were received, including several proposals to implement garden and composting programs as a way to teach sustainability to their students, and provide food and funds to those in need.

Fulcrum’s success has meant a sounder financial footing for our Catholic schools, which continue to make excellent academic, religious, and co-curricular programs accessible to more students. This report highlights the distributions of tuition assistance, assistance to schools in need, and grants for teacher and staff initiatives for fiscal year 2009 that are making a difference in the lives of families, schools, and communities across Western Washington.
Well over 20,000 individual youth and young adults participated in OYYAM programs in Archdiocesan Events, Catholic Scouting, CYO Athletics, CYO Outdoor Ministry, Leadership and Ministry Development, Retreat Ministry, Service and Mission in 2008-2009. Youth participants ranged in age between six and eighteen; young adult participants from eighteen to thirty-five.

CYO Athletics

School year 2008-2009: CYO Athletics coordinated league competition for over 40 Catholic parishes with schools and several other private elementary schools within King, Pierce and Snohomish counties. The purpose of these programs was to develop attitudes of fair play, teamwork, self-discipline and physical fitness based upon Catholic Christian principles.

Sports included soccer, cross country, basketball, volleyball, baseball and track and field. The majority of participants were in grades 4 through 8. There were approximately 15,000 youth athletes involved and an estimated 3,000 adult volunteer coaches, coordinators and commissioners.

CYO Outdoor Ministry

Summer 2008: CYO Outdoor Ministries operated three resident camps, Don Bosco, Hamilton and Gallagher, in addition to the Nanamakee wilderness expedition program that served just over 1600 youth summer campers in a wide variety of programs fostering personal, social and spiritual development within an intentional framework of enhanced Catholic identity.

Campers came from all over Western Washington. CYO’s campership programs and discounts provided over $72,000 in financial aid to participants.

Spring 2009: CYO Outdoor Ministries offered an environmental education program at Camp Hamilton emphasizing Christian stewardship of the earth. This program served almost 75% of the groups. In addition, the Office for Youth and Young Adult Ministry facilitated numerous retreats at these facilities, including six confirmation retreats for almost 400 youth participants from 19 parishes and two marriage prep retreats for over 60 participants.

This is just a snapshot of several programs of OYYAM. For more information on all our programs, please visit the OYYAM website at www.seattleoyyam.org.

Mission Statement

We trust in Jesus to use our hearts and hands to comfort His people, celebrate the dignity of the human person, and witness our faith in the Lord Jesus and the hope we share in resurrection. This ministry is extended through the education of parishioners concerning pre-arrangement planning, and scheduled opportunities for prayer. ACC also serves as a resource to parishes regarding funeral and burial issues.

Associated Catholic Cemeteries

Associated Catholic Cemeteries is comprised of four cemeteries and has buried approximately 78,000 people over 120 years. Calvary, located near the University of Washington in Seattle, was dedicated in 1889. Holywood, serving North Seattle, King, and Snohomish Counties, was blessed in 1953. Gethsemane, dedicated in 1975, serves South Seattle, King and Pierce Counties. St. Patrick, begun in 1890 as the parish cemetery for St. Anthony (now Holy Spirit) Parish in Kent, was transferred to ACC in 1989. These four cemeteries provided 979 burial services during 2008/2009. In keeping with the Church’s teaching of a preferential option for the poor, Associated Catholic Cemeteries continue to provide burial services at no charge or at a reduced cost to those in need. This is made possible due to the support of other families who choose their Catholic cemetery for their burial needs.

Associated Catholic Cemeteries continues its long-standing practice of operating without financial subsidy from the Archdiocese. Financial results for the year ending June 30, 2009 show a loss in Net Income from Operations. This is attributed to two factors: 1) Despite regular contributions to the Care Fund, the economic conditions and the stock market declines resulted in a net loss in the Care Fund during the year of approximately -21.5%. As a result, a much lower amount from the Care Fund was used for cemetery operations than has historically been the case. (Note: At this writing nearly all the losses during 2008/2009 in the Care Fund have been regained.) 2) There was a decline in pre-need sales which can be attributed to the year’s economic uncertainty.

In addition to the four Archdiocesan Cemeteries, there are 20 active parish cemeteries throughout the Archdiocese. The financial results of these cemeteries are included in parish operations. A Pre-Need Planning Guide as well as A Guide for Making Good Decisions for the End of Life are both available at no charge by calling 1-888-784-8683. To learn more about the Catholic Cemeteries of the Archdiocese visit them on the internet at www.acc-seattle.org.
As a faith-based and values-driven outreach of the Catholic Church in Western Washington, Catholic Community Services has provided safety, stability and supportive connections in the lives of men, women and children in need for more than 90 years. It is the largest local private provider of assistance to poor and vulnerable people in the State of Washington. Under the leadership of Archbishop Alex J. Brunett, the direction of the Boards of Trustees, and Michael L. Reichert, President, the staff of Catholic Community Services (CCS) and Catholic Housing Services (CHS) provide loving and compassionate service to persons in need throughout Western Washington.

CCS and CHS together have more than 120 programs. The 12 CCS family centers provide an array of services. Long Term Care services are provided in the homes of seniors and people with disabilities of all economic backgrounds. Chemical Dependency System Northwest provides a full continuum of outpatient chemical dependency treatment services for youth, adults and their families. The Family Preservation System assists children/youth and families with multiple and complex needs. Catholic Community Services provides affordable housing, case management and other valuable services.

In each area of the Archdiocese, services are based on local needs and funding. They are provided through a variety of sources, including contracts with cities and counties; the state and federal governments; fees for services; private donations and foundations; and through United Way. Catholic Charities funding is provided through the Annual Catholic Appeal, CCS Week, and a variety of specific family center and program appeals during the year. The Catholic Charities Foundation also provides funding.

CCS FAMILY CENTERS
CCS family centers reflect the needs and resources in each community where they are located. Where possible, family centers tailor a unique approach to each family that comes to them in need. Family center staff work to integrate all the services available in a community to nourish self-sufficiency and achieve wholeness and well-being for every member of the family. Family center services vary by site and may include counseling, case management, information and referral, emergency services, shelters and transitional housing, permanent housing, mental health services, chemical dependency services, foster care, adoption, pregnancy support, Volunteer Chore Services, the Foster Grandparent Program, and others.

Dear Members of the Church in Western Washington:

As members of the Archdiocesan Finance Council, it is our responsibility to assist Archbishop Brunett and his staff in the oversight of the financial matters of the Archdiocese of Seattle. Only through your generosity is the Archdiocese of Seattle able to carry out its mission in Western Washington. Therefore, it is important for us to provide you this annual report to keep you apprised of the financial condition of our Church and to inform you about any issues that we are addressing.

The economic downturn has affected our Church as it has so many in our society. A number of our parishes have experienced declines in their ordinary income. Many of our Catholic schools have endowment funds and the losses in the stock market have negatively impacted these funds. Thus, they are not able to provide the support to elementary and high schools that they have in the past. In the midst of these challenges, Catholics of this Archdiocese remain very generous, even in the parishes that show a decline in their regular income. Many parishioners, whose employment has not been affected by the economy, have stepped up and made contributions to make up for those that have been more severely impacted by the economic downturn. This is very evident in this year’s Annual Catholic Appeal in which the number of those in our parishes and schools provide a safe environment for our children.

The Archdiocese continues to settle sexual abuse claims from victims. These cases date back over 30 years. Currently three cases of abuse by Archdiocesan clergy have not yet been settled. It is our hope that in the next eighteen months these cases will be settled. In addition, the Archdiocese has been named in over a dozen lawsuits regarding sexual abuse by Christian Brothers who served at O’Dea High School and at Briscoe School, a boys boarding school that closed in 1971.

During the past twenty years, the Archdiocese has provided pastoral care and settlements to approximately 300 victims. The costs of the settlements, counseling and attorney’s fees have totaled approximately 42 million dollars. These costs were primarily paid by the insurance companies that were providing coverage at the time of the abuse. Over 90% of all our current cases are pre-1980 and all are prior to 1985. Some cases go back as far as 1940. During those years, the Archdiocese had more than ten different insurance companies. Prior to 1973, less than 15 million dollars coverage was not centralized and each parish carried its own insurance. Fortunately, we have been able to find some of these insurance policies but there are also laps in coverage due to missing policies and policies with very low liability limits.

In cases where there were gaps or low limits, we funded the settlements through the Archdiocesan Self-Insurance Reserve. This fund was depleted three years ago. Now, when there is a lack of insurance coverage, we are funding the settlements from the Archdiocesan General Reserve. The General Reserve was funded in the late 70’s and mid-80’s from the sale of properties that were not being used by the Archdiocese. It is our hope we will be able to settle the remaining cases with funds from this reserve.

This means that no funds donated to the Annual Catholic Appeal or any funds from parish assessments have been used to fund the sexual abuse settlement cases. If the Archdiocese continues to settle cases for fair and reasonable amounts, as it has for the last twenty years, and if our insurance carriers remain cooperative, the Archdiocese will not be forced to seek relief from bankruptcy as some of our neighboring dioceses have done.

We continue to reach out to victims and to provide pastoral care and assistance toward their healing. The Archdiocese also continues to expand its efforts to address the tragedy of child sexual abuse. There is required screening for all those in our Church who work with children. There is also required training for all parish staff and applicable volunteers to ensure that our parishes and schools provide a safe environment for our children.

We hope this report provides insights into the financial affairs of the Archdiocese. As we continue to move forward, the Archdiocesan Finance Council is committed to providing good stewardship and assistance to Archbishop Brunett and his staff in the financial management of the Church of Western Washington.

Sincerely,

Lou Dell’Osso, Jr. Chair
Archdiocesan Finance Council
