

All marriages between a man and a woman are presumed valid until the contrary is proven. In considering whether a marriage bond is valid, the Catholic Church looks at five things: the form of the marriage, the freedom of the parties, their capacity for entering into marriage, their knowledge of marriage and of each other, and their intentions in entering into marriage. A marriage could be declared invalid if something is lacking in any one of these areas.